

JOHNNY AND SALLY ANN:
the true-life tall tales of Johnny Appleseed and Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind

by Tom Smith

www.youthplays.com
info@youthplays.com

Cast Of Characters

Actor 1      Johnny Appleseed
Actor 2      Pete
Actor 3      Woman, Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind, Betsy Ross, Belinda

Alternately, if you'd like to cast a larger group of actors, you may include the optional scene indicated in the script. In that case, the cast would look like this:

Johnny Appleseed
Pete
Woman 1
Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind
Students (2 to 27 boys or girls)
Miss Tannehill
Betsy Ross
Belinda
Voice

Dedication

To Kevin Andrew, who is even more amazing than a true-life tall tale.

The American wilderness, circa 1794. JOHNNY APPLESEED comes walking through. He is about 20, congenial, dressed poorly in hand-me-downs and clothes made from sacks. He wears a pot on his head. He stops at a fence post outside a remote cabin.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Excuse me... Miss? May I talk to you for a moment?

WOMAN

(Walking on.)

What is it, Mister? You'd better not be trying to sell me anything. I've got a mess of chores to finish up, and I don't want to waste my time talking to some salesman.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I'm not a salesman. My name is John Chapman.

WOMAN

Never heard of ya.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Perhaps you know me by my nickname: Johnny Appleseed?

WOMAN

Never heard of ya.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Really? I'm quite famous around these parts.

WOMAN

Not to me. What do you want?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I've been going around the country and planting apple trees. I don't have any money, but I do have these. Apple seeds.

WOMAN

Yeah? So?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I was wondering if you might be interested in a little trade: some apple seeds for a nice dinner.

WOMAN

What would I do with apple seeds?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Why, what can't you do with apple seeds? You can plant them and watch them grow up into tall, tall trees. The trees will give you shade on sunny days like today. You can hang a swing from their branches and swing and swing so that you don't have to fan yourself. Or, you can hang a hammock between their trunks and just lie back and listen to the crickets chirp. You can eat the apples. Or you can make apple pie, apple pancakes, apple crisp, apple dumplings, apple turnovers, apple butter, apple fritters, applesauce, candied apples, caramel apples, or whatever. And you can wash all that down with apple juice or apple cider. Plus, you can make apple head dolls from the apple cores, or candied apple peels from the peels, or figure out the initial of your next boyfriend by twisting the apple stem while saying the alphabet and seeing which letter it comes off on. Then you can take the seeds and plant more trees, and eventually you'll have enough apples to eat for the rest of your life, apple juice to drink for the rest of your life, and enough trees to build a house!

WOMAN

I already have a house.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I know that. But maybe you'll get married to some nice fella and he'll build an even nicer one for you.

WOMAN

All that from just these few seeds?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I guarantee! Or my name isn't Johnny Appleseed.

WOMAN

Well... I did make more supper than I can eat...

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I'll even throw in a few apples for dessert.

WOMAN

All right, Mister, you made yourself a deal. Now come on in for some stew. It ain't much, but it's all I got.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

It'll be just fine!

(They exit into her house. From offstage we hear:)

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

PETE (off)

Betty? Betty? Where are you girl?

(PETE walks in carrying an empty rope. He is about 16, dressed well but with poor taste.)

PETE

Here Betty, Betty, Betty. Here girl. Where are you? Mama's gonna be really upset if I don't bring you back home, you dumb ol' cow. You shouldn't have run away like that: opening up your pen and taking off like lightning. Well, maybe your pen forgot to get shut. Well, maybe I forgot to shut your pen because I fell asleep instead of finishing up my chores. All I know is that I've got to get you back home. Mama's gonna be awfully mad at me if I don't. You're the only cow we got left. Betty? Here Betty, Betty, Betty. Here girl.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

(Re-entering, calling off.)

Thanks again for the stew, ma'am. I surely do appreciate it! And good luck with those seeds.

PETE

Hey, Mister. Have you seen my cow, Betty?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Nope. Then again, I haven't really been looking for her. What's she look like?

PETE

A cow.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I know that, but what color is she?

PETE

Oh. She's brown. About yea high. Big sad eyes. Kinda skinny.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I haven't seen her.

PETE

I'm gonna get in so much trouble!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

How did you lose her?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

PETE

Somebody left her pen open.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Who?

PETE

I'm not sure. Maybe a cattle rustler or something.

(Beat.)

Or a monster.

(Beat.)

But it was probably me.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I haven't run into her. But if I do, I'll tell her to get back home.

PETE

Hey, Mister, wait a minute! I don't mean to be nosy or anything, but how come you're wearing a pot on your head?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, a while back I traded some apple seeds for it. I figured I might need a pot for cooking. I like to travel light, and I didn't want to carry it around with me, so I wear it on my head. Keeps the rain and the snow out. Plus, I can use it to make music.

(He bangs on it like a drum and sings badly off key.)

How's it sound?

PETE

Maybe you should have traded for a skillet instead.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

So maybe it doesn't make the prettiest sound in the world. But how does it look?

PETE

Like a pot on your head.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I'm not trying to win any beauty contests.

PETE

That's good.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

My name's John Chapman. But most folks know me by the name Johnny Appleseed.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

PETE

Never heard of you.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

That's all right. I'm not trying to win any popularity contests either. What's your name?

PETE

Pete.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Just Pete?

PETE

I guess so. I haven't ever been called anything else.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, Pete, nice to meet you.

PETE

What are you doing around these parts?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I'm walking around passing out apple seeds to people.

PETE

How come?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Times are hard. Some people don't have very much to eat. So I trade them these seeds so they can grow apple trees and that way they can eat for the rest of their lives.

PETE

No offense, Mr. Appleblossom—

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Appleseed. And call me Johnny.

PETE

—Johnny. But who'd want to eat just apples for the rest of their lives?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

They don't have to eat just apples. There's a whole heap of things you can do with apple seeds.

PETE

Oh yeah? Like what?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Why, what can't you do with apple seeds? You can plant them and watch them grow up into tall, tall trees. The trees will give you shade on sunny days like today. You can hang a swing from their branches and swing and swing so that you don't have to fan yourself. Or, you can hang a hammock between their trunks and just lie back and listen to the crickets chirp. You can eat the apples. Or you can make apple pie, apple pancakes, apple crisp, apple dumplings, apple turnovers, apple butter, apple fritters, applesauce, candied apples, caramel apples, or whatever. And you can wash all that down with apple juice or apple cider. Plus, you can make apple head dolls from the apple cores, or candied apple peels from the peels, or figure out the initial of your next boyfriend by twisting the apple stem while saying the alphabet and seeing which letter it comes off on. Then you can take the seeds and plant more trees, and eventually you'll have enough apples to eat for the rest of your life, apple juice to drink for the rest of your life, and enough trees to build a house!

PETE

No offense, Johnny Applepudding, but that sounded a little rehearsed.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

People ask the same question a lot. Hey, I got an idea! Why don't you walk with me a spell? I'm going to be wandering around, looking for the next cabin or house or whatever, and you can keep me company. Maybe we'll run into your cow, Betty.

PETE

That's a great idea!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, come on then.

(They start to walk.)

PETE

Ummm...do you really wear that pot as a hat?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Don't see why I shouldn't.

PETE

Ok. But maybe we can trade it for a real hat somewhere.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Only if I can cook in it.

(They exit.)

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

(Time passes. A week or so later.)

PETE

Slow down. You're walking like your britches are on fire!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Sorry. I'm just so used to traveling on my own that I forget there's someone else. I'm sorry we never did find Betty.

PETE

That's ok. She probably made her way back home by now anyway.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

You think so?

PETE

Sure. And if not, I wouldn't want to be back home anyway. Mama will be awfully mad at me losing our last cow like that. And you don't want to see Mama when she's mad! Whew, it's getting hot! Sun's almost directly overhead. Must be right around lunchtime.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Are you hungry, Pete?

PETE

Not for apples! Don't get me wrong, I like apples. I even liked that dessert you made last night and named after my cow, Apple Brown Betty. But we've been eating apples, apples and nothing but apples for days now. How can you stand it?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I don't know. I just love the taste of a good apple. And ever since I've been eating them, I've never gotten sick. Not a cold, not a sneeze, not even a sniffle. I guess an apple a day keeps the doctor away.

PETE

Can I ask you a personal question, Mr. Applecore?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Appleseed. I suppose so.

PETE

Why do you wear all those hand-me-downs from people?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

What else should I wear?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

PETE

You could buy yourself some new clothes. I saw you with a beautiful gold watch the other day.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

You mean, this one?

(He pulls it out.)

PETE

Yeah. Why don't you just sell that and buy yourself some clothes? Something nicer. Less...sack-like?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I could never sell this watch! It's the only thing I have to remind me of my family. My father gave it to me right before I left home. I promised him I'd always hold onto it.

PETE

I know, but it doesn't seem like you have much use for it wandering around like this. And you could use the money. For food or clothes.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

(Putting it away.)

I'm happy with what I already have. These clothes came from people who barely had enough, but still they shared them with me in exchange for some apple seeds. To me, they're worth a lot more than any fancy duds.

PETE

Johnny, how many people do you think we've met over the last few days?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Oh, I'd reckon about five or six a day, so that makes it about 35, 40.

PETE

That's a lot of people. And they all seem to be struggling. I didn't know there were so many poor people here in America.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

You know, Pete, the Revolutionary War a few years ago took its toll on people. A lot of people lost their sons or their husbands. There're a lot of widows trying to make ends meet so they can feed their family. I like to help out if I can.

PETE

(Seeing something offstage.)

What's that over there?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Where?

PETE

There, behind that tree. Listen.

(They hear a rustling noise.)

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Sounds like a bear.

PETE

A bear!?! Let's get out of here!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

A bear won't do you any harm.

PETE

What are you talking about? Bears are dangerous. We need to scam!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete, now listen to me. I know for most people meeting a bear in the woods is a scary, scary thing. Heck, I even used to be scared of them. But I've been traveling around the wilderness for years and years, and all the animals in the forest have gotten used to me being around. Last winter I got so tuckered out from all my travels that I fell asleep in an empty tree trunk. It was warm and full of moss and I just ended up sleeping until the spring. Well guess what? That moss that was so soft and warm? It turned out to be a family of bears, sleeping in the same tree trunk. I got out of there, walked away, and they never bothered me. Stuff like that happens all the time to me.

PETE

Sleeping with a family of bears? Is that story really true, Johnny?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete, there's a lot of stories about me. Some of them are true, and some of them are all mixed up with a lot of tall tale. I can't remember anymore which ones are really true, and which ones are sort of true. It's all part of the true-life tall tales of Johnny Appleseed.

(More rustling, then the sound fades off in the distance.)

See, we scared it away with all our talking. It didn't mean no harm.

PETE

Don't get me wrong, but I sort of wish we had seen a bear. I mean, I'm glad you're letting me come along with you, but with all these stories you've been telling me, I kinda thought your life would be a little more exciting than this. I thought I'd have all sorts of adventures I could tell my friends about.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Stick around, Pete. Something exciting always happens to Johnny Appleseed.

(Just then SALLY ANN enters. She is a large woman, about 18, feisty and full of life. She carries an axe.)

SALLY ANN

Who's there?

PETE

Who are you?

SALLY ANN

I asked you first.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Howdy, ma'am. I'm Johnny Appleseed and this is Pete.

SALLY ANN

I'm Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind. And this is my part of the woods. What do you want?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Nothing, ma'am. We're just passing through, planting apple seeds and trying to help people. Are you interested in some apple seeds?

SALLY ANN

What for? What can I do with apple seeds?

PETE

Don't ask him that.

SALLY ANN

Why not?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Why, what can't you do with apple seeds? You can plant them and watch them grow up into tall, tall trees. The trees will give you shade on sunny days like today. You can hang a swing from their branches and swing and swing so that you don't have to fan yourself. Or, you can hang a hammock between their trunks and just lie back and listen to the crickets chirp. You can eat the apples. Or you can make apple pie, apple pancakes, apple crisp, apple dumplings, apple turnovers, apple butter, apple fritters, applesauce, candied apples, caramel apples, or whatever. And you can wash all that down with apple juice or apple cider.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED (cont'd)

Plus, you can make apple head dolls from the apple cores, or candied apple peels from the peels, or figure out the initial of your next boyfriend by twisting the apple stem while saying the alphabet and seeing which letter it comes off on.

SALLY ANN

I don't want a boyfriend. I'm happy on my own.

PETE

I thought every girl wants a boyfriend.

SALLY ANN

Not me. I do just fine by myself. I've been taking care of myself for ten years already.

PETE

Really? But how? You're just a girl.

SALLY ANN

What do you mean, "just a girl?"

PETE

Well, you know... How are you going to feed yourself? You need a husband to work and make money.

SALLY ANN

I don't need money. And I catch my own food. Every day I walk over to that stream and I get 10 fish before you can say "lickety-split."

PETE

But fishing is man's work!

SALLY ANN

Not when a woman does it.

PETE

I don't believe you. I've never once seen a woman catch her own fish.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete!

PETE

Well I don't. Prove it, Sally Ann whatever-your-name-is. I'll tell you what; let's have a race. The first person to catch 10 fish from that stream is the winner.

SALLY ANN

Fine.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Sally Ann, you don't have to do this. Pete's just talking big.

SALLY ANN

I got no problem. It's Pete that should be scared.

PETE

I'm not scared of some girl. Ready? On your mark, get set, go!

(Pete jumps in the stream, reaching at fish but missing each time. Sally Ann is stretching and yawning, taking her time walking over to the stream. Pete reaches in again and again, always missing, sometimes falling. Eventually, Sally Ann gets into the water.)

SALLY ANN

Hey, Pete, what did I say that word was? You know, that one...?

PETE

You mean, "lickety—"

(As he says it, she pulls out 10 fish.)

What the...?

SALLY ANN

I told you. Ten fish before you could say lickety-split.

PETE

That's not fair. You cheated! You probably had those fish in your pockets or something!

SALLY ANN

I don't have any pockets!

PETE

Well, I still say you cheated!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete, c'mon. She won fair and square. Let's just—

SALLY ANN

All right then, choose something else. I'll prove to you that I'm faster, smarter, and better than any boy in any thing.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

PETE

Ok, Miss Know-it-all: I challenge you to a foot race. From here to that tree way way over there and back again.

SALLY ANN

Fine.

PETE

On your mark, get set, go!

(He takes off.)

SALLY ANN

Your friend is a little pigheaded, Mr. Appleseed.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Call me Johnny. And yes, I know. But Pete is a good person at heart. Don't you think you should start running?

SALLY ANN

I'll give him a few more seconds head start. Three...two...one...be right back!

(She runs off.)

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Whew! Look at her run. She's like a cheetah! I've never seen a person run that fast before.

(He pulls out his watch and times her. A few moments later, Sally Ann returns.)

You ran that whole distance in under ten seconds! You're amazing!

SALLY ANN

I hate showing him up like that, but when boys think they're better than me just because they're boys, it really steams me up. That's a beautiful watch.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

My father gave it to me before I left home.

SALLY ANN

That was awfully nice of him.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Yes it was. What about you? Do you live out here by yourself?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

SALLY ANN

Yep. I used to live with my 9 brothers, but things got crowded at home, so I thought I'd go out on my own. On my 8th birthday I decided to go live with the animals, and that's what I did. Been living out here in the woods with the animals ever since. Had a leopard teach me to run. A shark taught me to swim. I've arm-wrestled gorillas and learned to sing from the birds. Heck, I even enrolled in a school and learned all I could until I got as smart as the teacher. They didn't have anything else to teach me, so I just headed back out to the woods.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Wait a minute! You're not the same Sally Ann Thunder Ann Whirlwind who saw eagles attacking a man? They say you yelled at those eagles so loud that the feathers fell off their heads, and now they're bald eagles.

SALLY ANN

I was just trying to help.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I'm awfully glad to meet you in person, ma'am.

SALLY ANN

Likewise, Johnny. Have you been out in the woods a long time?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Yes, ma'am. Been living off the generosity of folks for the past few years. Trading them apple seeds for clothing and food and such. Helping a lot of them get back on their feet.

SALLY ANN

That's awfully big-hearted of you, Johnny. The world needs more kindness like yours.

PETE

(Slowly running back on, panting heavily.)

No fair! You must have taken a short cut.

SALLY ANN

You saw me pass you going to the tree and then coming back again!

PETE

I know, but I still think you cheated. Maybe you have special shoes or something. One more test!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Now, Pete, c'mon... She won fair and square. Just like before.

PETE

One more.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

SALLY ANN

Fine. One more.

PETE

Ok, the first one to move ten stones from here to over there is the winner. Ready, on your mark, get set, go!

(He grabs the first stone. He slowly lugs it off. He comes back, exhausted, and reaches down for the second stone.)

Whatsamatter? Too weak to do it?

SALLY ANN

No, I just don't know why you're doing it the hard way.

PETE

What do you mean?

SALLY ANN

Stand back for just a second.

(She suddenly starts spinning, creating a tornado, which blows/pulls the 10 rocks off.)

My fifth name's not Whirlwind for nothing, you know.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Now do you give up, Pete?

PETE

Let's arm-wrestle!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete!

PETE

C'mon! First one to—

(Sally Ann pins his arm.)

Ok, let's have a yelling contest.

(Sally Ann roars, the force pushing Pete around.)

How about singing?

(She opens her mouth and out comes a beautiful aria.)

I give up!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Finally!

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

SALLY ANN

Don't be upset, Pete. I didn't win all those contests just to make you look bad. I just wanted to prove to you that some girls are better than some boys at things. Just like some boys can be better than some girls. It all depends on the person.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

C'mon, Pete, we'd better get going. Sally Ann doesn't need our apple seeds; let's go find some people who do. It was great meeting you, Sally Ann!

SALLY ANN

You too, Johnny. Maybe we'll meet again sometime.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I'd like that.

SALLY ANN

Me too.

PETE

When we do, you'd better be ready. I took it easy on you because I didn't want you to cry when you lost. But next time, I won't hold back.

SALLY ANN

Good, Pete, I like a challenge! Bye!

(She exits.)

PETE

I can't believe it...beaten by a girl.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Not a girl: a faster runner, a stronger arm-wrestler, a better singer, a—

PETE

Ok, ok, ok. Let's just keep going. Yeesh!

(OPTIONAL SCENE: Time passes. A group of STUDENTS rush up to Johnny and Pete. Each student line of dialogue may be assigned as your production sees fit.)

STUDENT

Please, sir, can you help us?

STUDENT

We're lost!

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Lost?

STUDENT

Yes. We were sent out by our teacher to look for samples of plants.

STUDENT

Leaves and such.

STUDENT

We're supposed to put them in a journal, identify them and write about them!

STUDENT

I've already collected seven. Look!

STUDENT

We were supposed to return to school an hour ago.

STUDENT

But we got lost.

STUDENT

Everything looks the same out here.

STUDENT

Our parents will get worried!

PETE

We can help you get back to your school!

STUDENT

You can?

STUDENT

Oh, thank you!

STUDENTS

Thank you!

PETE

Sure. Now, where is your school located?

STUDENT

Well, if we knew that, we wouldn't have bothered you.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I think what Pete means is, what town is your school in?

STUDENT

Oh! Mansfield, sir.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, that's to the west of us. So you'll want to head...

(Pointing.)

that way.

STUDENT

How did you know that, sir?

STUDENT

You don't even have a compass!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Just follow the sun. It rises in the east and sets in the west. So, just follow the sun's path and there you have it!

PETE

Would you like us to walk with you? We could take you back to your school ourselves.

STUDENT

Yes!

STUDENT

Oh, could you?

MISS TANNEHILL (off)

Children! Children, where are you?

STUDENT

It's our teacher!

STUDENT

We're over here!

MISS TANNEHILL

(Rushing on.)

Children! At last I've found you. I've been worried sick!

STUDENT

We got lost.

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

MISS TANNEHILL

I can see that. And who's this?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

John Chapman, ma'am. But you can call me Johnny Appleseed.

MISS TANNEHILL

You're Johnny Appleseed?

STUDENT

The Johnny Appleseed?

STUDENT

The one we've read about?

STUDENT

Goodness!

PETE

And I'm Pete.

STUDENT

We didn't read about you.

PETE

Not yet, you haven't! But I'm Johnny's best friend, and soon I'll be in your books as well!

MISS TANNEHILL

Thank you so much for finding the children, Mr. Appleseed!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, actually, they found us.

MISS TANNEHILL

Regardless, I am most grateful for you're looking after them. Now, come along, children. We must get you back before your parents start to worry.

(They start to exit.)

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Miss?

MISS TANNEHILL

Yes?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

The children. They said they were collecting plant samples. Leaves and such.

MISS TANNEHILL

Yes. We're studying botany.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Well, I'd be much obliged if you'd allow me to contribute something to their learning. Here you go.

(He hands them each an apple seed.)

It's an apple seed. When you get back home, plant it in the ground. Before you know it, it'll be a sapling. Then that sapling will grow into a tree. And that tree will live in Mansfield your whole life long, even longer. It'll be a reminder of the day you got lost and met up with Johnny Appleseed.

PETE

And Pete!

STUDENTS

Thank you! You're our hero! Oh boy!

(All rush up and hug or shake hands with Johnny. Pete looks expectant, but is ignored by the children.)

MISS TANNEHILL

Thank you again, Johnny Appleseed.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

You're surely welcome, Miss...?

MISS TANNEHILL

Tannehill. Nancy Tannehill. It's been a pleasure, Mr. Appleseed.

(All exit.)

PETE

Can you believe that?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

What?

PETE

(Imitating the students.)

"Thank you, Mr. Appleseed! We love you, Mr. Appleseed! You're our hero, Mr. Appleseed."

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Oh, Pete. They were just being nice, is all.

PETE

To you. What about me? I was the one willing to walk them back. But they all had stars in their eyes so all they could see was the great Johnny Appleseed!

STUDENT

(Approaching Pete.)

Mister?

PETE

Who? Me?

STUDENT

Yes, you, Mister. Thank you for helping us. I want you to have this.

PETE

What is it?

STUDENT

A leaf I found. I want you to have it since you helped us find our teacher. Now you can have something to always remember me by.

(Rushes off.)

PETE

Well, what do you know? Someone did see me! And she gave me a leaf to remember her by! What a sweet child!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Oh, I'm sure you'll remember her. That leaf?

PETE

Yeah?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

It's poison ivy!

PETE

Poison ivy!

(He starts scratching all over.)

Ahhh!

(End of optional scene.)

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

(Time passes. Johnny finishes up another story to Pete.)

PETE

Is that really true?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I guarantee!

PETE

You really melted snow in the middle of winter with your bare feet so you could have drinking water?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Yep.

PETE

Wow. That must have been really cold.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

It was. But my feet thawed out again come spring.

PETE

Look, here's another house. Let's stop. I'm starving!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

I never knew anyone who was hungry as often as you are. Didn't your ma ever feed you?

PETE

Sure, but we never had much to eat. You see, I've got 12 brothers and sisters, and if you wanted food you had to snap it up fast or by the time the plate got around to you, it would all be gone.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Twelve brothers and sisters!?!

PETE

Mama says it's very cold where we live.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

A house! Let's knock.

(They do.)

BETSY ROSS

Hello?

© Tom Smith

This is a perusal copy only. Absolutely no copying permitted.

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Howdy, ma'am!

PETE

I'm Pete and this is my good friend, Johnny Applefritter. And we're here to trade you apple seeds for food.

BETSY ROSS

Johnny Applefritter?

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Appleseed, ma'am.

PETE

So, what do you say? We're starved!

JOHNNY APPLESEED

Pete! Sorry about that, ma'am. What he means is, we're going around the country trading apple seeds for anything you may have but don't want anymore. A lot of people have been trading us food for the seeds. But we'll take anything: an old shirt, a spoon, a cup...

PETE

I can't eat a cup!

Want to read the rest? Just click on the Place an Order button to receive a free perusal copy!